RENOSY is an AI real estate investment service that leverages technology to deliver one-stop support for property acquisition, management, and sale. By streamlining these processes, RENOSY ensures security, simplicity, and optimization in asset formation through real estate, maximizing the benefits of each investment.

We are pleased to announce that, according to the results of Tokyo Shoko Research's "Research on Investment Property Sales Revenue" conducted in March 2025, our company has ranked No. 1 nationwide for investment property sales revenue in the latest fiscal year.

In addition, according to a survey conducted by Tokyo Shoko Research in October 2024, our company ranked No. 1 nationwide for investment property acquisition performance². We are honored to have received recognition for both sales and acquisition in the real estate investment sector.

1. This comparison was based on the total number of units sold and sales revenue for newly built and pre-owned investment condominiums, as well as newly built and pre-owned investment apartments.

RENOSY's investment property offerings are not limited to pre-owned compact condominiums; the company has expanded its product lineup to meet a wide range of customer needs for asset building. Specifically, RENOSY has expanded new apartment sales³ and launched its U.S. real estate investment business⁴ to offer tailored solutions that align with customer demands.

At RENOSY, we will continue to pursue our brand concept of a “reliable, seamless, and optimal asset building service through real estate,” and remain a partner in helping our customers achieve their ideal asset formation. Through this, we are committed to realizing our brand vision of “making real estate a standard practice for asset building.”
