Notice Concerning Conclusion of Business Partnership Agreement with Sun* Inc.

KLab Inc. (the "Company") has announced that its Board of Directors resolved at a meeting held today, to conclude a business partnership agreement with Sun* Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "Sun Asterisk") as follows.

Notes

1. Overview of business partnership

As was announced today in the "Notice Concerning Change in Consolidated Subsidiary (Share Transfer)," the Company and Sun Asterisk, have engaged in dialogue following the transfer of the consolidated subsidiary GlobalGear Co. Ltd., and have found the possibility of creating synergies in each other's growth strategies. The conclusion of this business partnership agreement is positioned as the first step for the two companies to deepen mutual understanding from a long-term perspective and explore various collaboration opportunities.

The Company Group is currently streamlining its personnel structure and fundamentally reviewing its business structure. Going forward, by receiving the technology, know-how, experience, human resources and other resources that Sun Asterisk has cultivated in its digital creative studio business, the Company will aim to further streamline its management and achieve further business growth and maximization of its corporate value.

2. Overview of business partner

Sun Asterisk's vision is "Create a world where everyone has the freedom to make awesome things that matter," and it currently operates a digital creative studio business with over 2,000 engineers and creators in six cities across four countries.

With strengths in business development that integrates business, tech, and creativity, Sun Asterisk has supported the development of over 1,000 services to date. Leveraging this experience and a wide range of professional talent in the creative field, it is also developing services in the entertainment area. In the entertainment area, Sun Asterisk has been building new revenue bases in recent years through aggressive investments, such as through Trys, Inc., which undertakes smartphone games and illustration production, as well as blockchain games, and the operation of ALLLY, a fan club app management system for professional artists.
